Night Tales
London, UK

Night Tales, is a concept bar in London, UK, designed by Sella Concept Design Studio. A challenging project in that the interior design centred around the refurbishment of three railway arches, the designers transformed a former garage into a 300-capacity nightclub and 4,000sqft drinking / dining terrace.

Sella Concept creates interiors, branding, curation and set design for creative-minded clients, dynamic young brands and established global names. The design studio likes to transport their customers and users outside of everyday life, to give them space to breathe and scope to dream. To do this they create spaces that tell stories.

Japanese influences combine with concrete and resin; cherry woods and reflective metals that work with the arches, curves and corners of the space at Night Tales.

To bring the outdoor space to life during the evening hours, Luna pendants from Italian lighting brand In-es.artdesign match perfectly with the style of Night Tales. 'Luna Out' has been designed to create a romantic atmosphere in an outdoor space once the sun has set - creating a warm and cozy light. Made from Nebulite, a special mix of resins and fibers, it is inspired by the Moon and has been created to reproduce the luminescent and irregular surface of the celestial body.

In-es.artdesign was founded in 2003 and merges an artistic sensibility with design know-how. Its products are both functional and layered, many of them evoking such natural or existential phenomena as the waxing and waning of the moon, or the passing of time.

Luna Liberty
In-es.artdesign
Hall 1.1 Stand B21

On the occasion of Light + Building In-es.artdesign's company's lead designer Oçilunam, has decided to present a 'restyling' of bestseller product Luna Liberty, inspired by the moon. A tribute to Art Nouveau, the fixture is inspired by natural forms and structures, particularly by the curved lines of plants and flowers. It is available in the 35cm and 50cm, in a table, floor or pendant version. The Nebulite material that has been developed specifically for In-es.artdesign's collections, emphasises the atmospheric and evocative lighting of the lamp. Even the shape evokes the celestial body, reproducing it in every vein.
