Portable Precision

darc's guide to some of the latest cordless decorative lighting products.

Panthella Portable - Louis Poulsen

The Panthella Portable is an exact downscaled acrylic version of the original Panthella lamp that is battery-powered and therefore easy to carry around, creating ambience with a Nordic twist. The miniature Panthella provides any space with a harmonious and glare-free downward light, enabling you to enjoy Panton's design out in the open too. It creates an overall more delicate light as the transparency of the opal shade and the reflection of the downward beam on the inner side of the shade provides a gentle glow and expression. Panthella Portable is available in opal acrylic (Ø160) charged using USB.

Tribeca USB - AlmaLight

Alma Light presents Tribeca USB, an extension of the Tribeca collection, with its characteristic spherical alabaster lampshade but this time turning it into a portable autonomous luminaire, which allows for the touch of warmth and elegance that transmits the alabaster stone to any corner, either indoor or outdoor, thanks to its IP45 protection. This stone, which comes from national quarries and has a great tradition in Spain, gives each screen a unique identity, with white and grayish veins, sometimes with some fascinating earthy hue and a smooth translucency. Specially designed to enhance tables and terraces of stylish restaurants.

Luna Take Away - In-es.artdesign

Luna Take Away is a fun yet elegant product featuring a carry handle, available in different colours (white, silver, gold, bronze, magenta, blue, orange, red, and turquoise). This rechargeable battery-powered lamp may be carried around either indoors or outdoors and has three different brightness settings. Luna Take Away is made from a material called Nebulite by the designer, which is a mix of resin and fibers, created to resemble the moon and its infinite mysteries by reproducing its luminescent and irregular surface. The lamp resembles a miniature moon (35cm diameter), and with its romantic allure means it is perfect for creating a poetic and romantic atmosphere.
